REDISCOVERING CONFIDENCE

Two months ago, with a special session of congress convening, the country was having an attack of nerves. At the height of its jitters, things got so bad that even President Roosevelt thought it necessary to spoon out soothing syrup in the form of a proposal for a "national unity" conference and a promise to consult with congressional leaders at frequent intervals on matters of foreign policy. Some insisted congress should remain in session till the next regular session convened.

To a significant extent the atmosphere of apprehension prevailing last September has lifted. The President's "national unity" conference passed off quietly, congress revised the neutrality act and adjourned, and few have bothered about Mr. Roosevelt's promise to consult with congressional leaders, who went home also. September fears were forgotten, apparently with popular approval.

As an isolated instance of confidence the disappearance of the foreign policy bogey isn't nearly so noteworthy as it is when considered in relation to restoration of confidence generally. Perhaps confidence hasn't been restored so much as it has been rediscovered. The United States seems to have regained some of the assurance it lost at the beginning of the decade. The "psychological atmosphere" is measurably improved.

Theories about the reasons for this necessarily take in more territory than can be surveyed easily, but if one reason were to be chosen it might well be the recent opportunity for comparison with war-torn nations. Every American has had cause to be thankful he lives where he does and has been made to realize by events abroad that his country needs only to stay clear of Europe's violence to become the hope of the world.

Perhaps this is the first dawning of the realization of American destiny that thoughtful forecasters have been hoping for—the acceptance of the responsibility for world leadership that the United States must exercise while Europe flounders once more in its own entanglements.

OUT OF WORK

In Michigan and Indiana today, in Ohio and other states last spring, and somewhere else tomorrow, claims to unemployment compensation by workers idle due to strikes create a dilemma. While most state laws provide that workers are not entitled to unemployment benefits if unemployed because of a strike, lockout or some other form of labor dispute, state authorities must decide in each case whether claimants are unemployed voluntarily or involuntarily.

In Michigan, for instance, when A. F. of L. workers claimed benefits because the Chrysler plant labor troubles were not of their making, the C. I. O. quickly agreed that was the case and asked that benefits be given to members of an opposing labor union. The Michigan unemployment commission ruled against paying benefits to anyone, but Indiana's commission is reported to have made benefits available to some claimants affected by the Chrysler tieup.

It's not an easy question for a commission to decide, particularly a political commission. But it so happens that the theory of unemployment insurance is built squarely on the principle that it shall be paid to those who are out of work and cannot be restored to employment by either their own efforts or the efforts of the state. In other words, employment offered by the state through its official agency must be accepted if offered, otherwise the claim of the unemployed worker for compensation is not honored.

This may not dissolve the dilemma, but it suggests the solution that will have to be tried if claims traceable to labor troubles continue to be presented.

"RESTORING ORDER" IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA

Apparently not inclined to appreciate "restoration of order" in their country as accomplished by Nazi storm troopers after the Munich fiasco, Czech patriots now are being given a lesson in totalitarian discipline.

Significant response to reports of executions in Prague is that of Czech spokesmen abroad, who say the rioters acted prematurely. It is plainly the thought behind this comment that disturbances are looked forward to as the ultimate means of overthrowing German rule. But there will be a psychological moment for this, and it hasn't occurred yet.

This is neither surmise nor propaganda against Germany, but the ordinary expectation of trouble in a country seized and ruled by force. The Czechs are not Germans and cannot be expected to act like Germans under the circumstances. They are potential revolutionists.

So are thousands of Austrians. So are thousands of Poles. So are thousands of Germans who do not happen to be Nazis. It is the weakness of totalitarian government that it provides no course for minorities but violence, which necessitates counter-violence.

Trouble in Prague is the forerunner of a revolutionary movement that ultimately must become Nazi Germany's greatest problem—greater even than war itself. Adolf Hitler's boasts to the contrary notwithstanding, Greater Germany is not unified.

ALU'S WELL

With more than ordinary curiosity, the annual report of the secretary of the navy is leafed through this year to find, if possible, just how rapidly the U. S. fleet is growing these days.

One finds 197 units listed under battleships (15), cruisers (34), destroyers (54), submarines (89) and aircraft carriers (5). These are the chief departments of the navy.

In the same five classifications there were under construction or appropriated for on July 1, 1939, 87 units—44 percent of the navy's present strength. This

The navy is prepared to exercise its vital function of bringing the enemy to our terms as quickly as possible, while keeping him at a safe distance from our shores," declares Acting Secretary Edison.

All's well. If only the enemy to be brought to terms by the strongest navy in the world were known, curiosity about the navy could take a permanent holiday.

HIGH WEATHER MARK

At the beginning of last week, skeptics squinted at blue skies and mellow sunlight and grudgingly admitted it resembled Indian summer weather.

By the end of the week even skeptics were convinced. Temperatures had varied from 40 to slightly better than 60. The sky was a misty blue in broad daylight. Dawn came late and slowly, accompanied by fog, and dusk fell quickly. There were no clouds. Nights were crisp and clear—and likewise cloudless. It was genuine Indian summer, not a reasonable facsimile.

Those with good memories need be uncertain no longer about the identity of Indian summer. Last week was it—the nicest strength of November weather any native can recall.

THE STARS SAY:

For Tuesday, November 21

PROFITOUS astral influences indicate a day of excellent opportunity, with promotion, preferment, pleasure and the rich fulfillment of ambitious objectives. This beneficent influence obtains in all departments of life—social, romantic, cultural and commercial. Employers, superiors and those in high places are ready to stand by generously. Big business, political, diplomatic or fraternal groups will be found approachable.

Those whose birthday it is may be delighted by the assurance that things should move along "in a big way" during the year, culminating in the attainment of high objectives in all realms of activity and aspiration. Friendship, promotion, preferment, esteem as well as many phases of personal happiness and advancement may be sought with confidence. Romantic adventures, expanding fortunes and spiritual gratifications loom large.

A child born on this day may have a warm, expansive, generous, noble nature, with great human sympathy, charitable impulses, high aspirations and ideals, all combining to lift it to success, prosperity and pleasant places in life.

Each side apparently has been waiting for the other to change its mind about fighting. Which is almost peace.

A photograph shows Ambassador Grew smiling broadly at a conference in Japan. A resident of a foreign country just naturally picks up some native mannerism.

European Peace Hopeless?

This excellent map illustrates the slender hope of peace now being carefully nursed in Europe. England suggests "guarantees of non-aggression" become an integral part of the Reich. France suggests "reparation of injustices" Germany has imposed. Germany holds Austria, Czechoslovakia and western Poland, indicated by numbers one, two, three on the map, and also a small section of northern Poland. Russia holds eastern Poland (6) and gave Lithuania that part of Poland containing Wilno (5). Hungary took the Ruthenian section of Czechoslovakia (7). Italy is taking "peace bloc" alliances with Turkey, Greece, Rumania and Yugoslavia in the Balkans. Finland (8) and Scandinavian countries, if backed by England and France, may hold Russia in the eastern Baltic. Belgium (C) and the Netherlands confer on a mutual defense pact seeking to keep Hitler facing the North sea, instead of facing the straits of Dover.

"Protoplasmic Stimulation"

Best Method Of Discipline

(By International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 16.—If young Johnny or Mary insists on eating crackers in the parlor or pulling Tabby's tail, parents should resort to a little "protoplasmic stimulation."

That, explains Dr. Edwin Twitmyer, Philadelphia psychologist, means old-fashioned spanking. And that's what he advises Mrs. Jones to do when she calls up to inform him her youngster is throwing sand at the neighbor's children.

Spanking Is Best
"The well-executed, unpleasant protoplasmic stimulation of spanking is the best method of early discipline," asserted Dr. Twitmyer.

"The protoplasmic structure—whether of the amoeba or human being—reacts in just one way. It accepts pleasant situations and withdraws from the unpleasant."

"You can't reason with any child eight years old," explained the psychologist. "He has not the mental equipment to get it. He is just a fine animal. He is selfish—and whether you believe it or not, he just works you for a public utility."

"If you tell me you have raised your children well without spanking them, I say you are both lucky and unusual. Kids have just as much powers of rationalization as

Varied Medical Puzzles Discussed By Clendening

Please give some exercises which will reduce the legs, thighs and hips.

This can be done only to a limited extent. Removal of local excesses of fat is not feasible. Exercise for the hips which strengthen them and tend to make a better contour are as follows:

Exercise 1—Lie on the back with the legs extended and move one leg upward until the knee is as close as possible to the chest and the heel is touching the back of the leg. Then do this with the other leg and repeat 20 times.

Exercise 2—In the same position do imaginary bicycle pedaling.

Exercise 3—Kneel and with the arms stretched above the head bend first to the right and then to the left until hands are as close to the floor as possible. Repeat this 20 times.

Exercise 4—Stand with the feet about six inches apart and the arms extended over the head, and bend first to the right and then to the left, and backwards and forwards. Repeat 20 times.

Potential Danger
IS SCURVY really a dangerous disease nowadays as it has been in the past?

Scurvy in adults is very seldom seen because we have learned how to control it. But there certainly is a potential danger, as evidenced by the experience of the Italian troops in Ethiopia. They were all placed on a scientifically arranged, anti-scurvy diet. In other words every soldier was compelled to eat a lemon a day. There were no cases of scurvy in the Italian army. The Ethiopian army, on the other hand, is said to have had over 30,000 cases of scurvy because they were on an insufficient diet.

Medical Nomenclature
Why don't doctors use common and easily understood words? The words that the doctor uses are time-saving and perfectly una smart dog—perhaps not that much.

Dr. Twitmyer also advised parents to teach their offspring to use "social oil, or the polite lie." Otherwise, he said, the children may grow up later to find themselves socially ostracized "for not having a little tact."

standable to him. For instance, -itis as a suffix means "inflammation"; examples—appendicitis, tonsillitis.

-ectomy as a suffix means "to remove"; such as appendectomy, tonsillectomy.

-osis as a suffix means a "dis-eased condition," such as nephrosis. Prefix dys means "pain"; for instance, dyspepsia means painful digestion.

Other combinations refer to particular organs. For instance:

Arthro means a joint; thus, arthritis means inflammation of a joint.

Dermi pertains to a tooth; derm to the skin; gastro, stomach; hepato, liver; nephro, kidney; neuro, nerve; osteo, bone; oto, ear; phlebo, vein; rhini, nose.

How To Relieve Misery of Your

CHEST COLD

Massage throat, chest, and back with plenty of Vicks VapoRub at bedtime. Then spread a thick layer on chest and cover with a warm cloth.

VapoRub's double action brings double relief. It acts as a poultice to penetrate the surface skin; and its soothing medicinal vapors are breathed direct to the irritated air passages.

Try it, to loosen phlegm—to clear air passages—check tendency to cough—and also to relieve the tightness and soreness of chest muscles.

NEW DESIGN FOR STATE COLLEGES

Tennessee Head Favors
Grouping Students Into Own Community

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—The model university of the future, President James D. Hoskins of the University of Tennessee believes, will be one in which a large majority of the students never appear on the campus.

Instead they will be going to school in their own community under a highly developed extension system which will send teachers to them.

"After all," Hoskins said, "a state university has but one reason for existence and that is to create for its state. Gone are the days when university was merely an institution for classical learning where knowledge was regarded as its own reward."

It is not enough to train a person to be intelligent. He must be intelligent for some useful purpose. In an agricultural state like Tennessee, he said, the state university should be the center of research into its functions spreading out into the rural districts through extension classes.

He said the University of Tennessee had made a start in that direction with a constantly expanding extension service.

Jackie Cooper turns to comedy and scores a hit in "What a Life," which shows at the State Tuesday and Wednesday, following tonight's last showing of "The Marx Brothers at the Circus."

Co-starring with Betty Field, young Broadway stage star, Cooper appears as Henry Aldrich, young teen age boy whose good intentions get him into more trouble than the deliberate misdeeds of his friends.

Betty Field has the role of his girl friend, for whose affections Henry is obliged to engage in combat with cocky George Bigelow. The cocky one not only manages to steal Henry's girl but manages to throw suspicion on Henry in the matter of a too-candid caricature of the principal, and the theft of instruments belonging to the school band.

Imminent suspension for low marks in school, suspension for crying on an exam and unrecruited love add to Henry's confusion and the audience's entertainment, for the comedy is expertly played and directed.

Others in the cast are Janice Logan, John Howard, Lionel Stander and Hedda Hopper.

The picture is recommended as good film fare for the entire family.

Columbiana Store To Close Thursday, Thanksgiving Day

COLUMBIANA, Nov. 20.—Columbiana's stores, banks and manufacturing plants will be closed Thursday in observance of Thanksgiving day. The stores will be open Wednesday evening until nine. The schools will be closed both Thursday and Friday. The annual Thanksgiving service sponsored by the local Ministerial association will be held Thursday at 9:30 a. m. at the Christian church with Rev. W. R. Gohrecht as speaker.

Preliminary plans have been made by G. Charles Fisher for the publication of a Columbiana directory. Fisher issued a similar directory in 1935, but extensive increases in population brought about by annexation of territory and a building boom have made the need of a new directory apparent. Features of the book will be a full-page map of Columbiana and a section devoted to Firestone park, quarter-million dollar municipal showplace.

Observe Men's Day

Men's day was observed Sunday at the Christian church, the men being in charge of the services, with Prof. J. E. Hagedorn as guest-speaker. H. W. Lundgren was general chairman and special music was in charge of Homer Culp.

The November meeting of the County Council, American Legion auxiliary, was held Friday evening at the local Legion hall. Columbiana High school Principal Edgar F.

Miller entertained the group with a talk on his recent motor trip through the southwest and Mexico.

NEW DESIGN FOR STATE COLLEGES

Tennessee Head Favors Grouping Students Into Own Community

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—The model university of the future, President James D. Hoskins of the University of Tennessee believes, will be one in which a large majority of the students never appear on the campus.

Instead they will be going to school in their own community under a highly developed extension service plan which will send teachers to them.

"After all," Hoskins said, "a state university has but one reason for existence and that is to create for its state. Gone are the days when university was merely an institution for classical learning where knowledge was regarded as its own reward."

"It is not enough to train a person to be intelligent. He must be intelligent for some useful purpose."

In an agricultural state like Tennessee, he said, the state university should be the center of research with its functions spreading out into the rural districts through adult classes. He said the University of Tennessee had made a start in that direction with a constantly expanding extension service.

Jackie Cooper turns to comedy and scores a hit in "What a Life", which shows at the State Tuesday and Wednesday, following tonight's last showing of "The Marx Brothers at the Circus".

Co-starring with Betty Field, young Broadway stage star, Cooper appears as Henry Aldrich, young 'teen age boy whose good intentions get him into more trouble than the deliberate misdeeds of his friends.

Betty Field has the role of his girl friend, for whose affections Henry is obliged to engage in combat with cocky George Bigelow. The cocky one not only manages to steal Henry's girl but manages to throw suspicion on Henry in the matter of a too-candid caricature of the principal, and the theft of instruments belonging to the school band.

Imminent suspension for low marks in school, suspension for cribbing on an exam and unrequited love add to Henry's confusion and the audience's entertainment, for the comedy is expertly played and directed.

Others in the cast are Janice Logan, John Howard, Lionel Standen and Hedda Hopper.

The picture is recommended as good film fare for the entire family.

TIRE, BATTERY CHECKUP URGED

Butler Service Center Suggests Preparation For Future

With the weather still good, motorists are urged to check up on condition of their tires and batteries preparatory to winter driving charges, repair bills and avoidance of a bad accident and possible through this check-up according to Lee Butler, manager of the Butler Service Center on W. State St.

It has been so many cases where delay in replacement of a worn set of tires has brought later and dangers to drivers. So frequently an inefficient battery gives one stranded without lights or a motor that won't start.

Can Make Easy Terms
Good allowances on old tires and batteries will be given by Mr. Butler on trade-in arrangements. Easy payment terms can be arranged on replacement work. Present prices may not be in effect for long, tire manufacturers say, and purchase now will give the customer advantages of lower figures.

The Butler Service Center operates an emergency truck service for tire and battery repair and changing. A telephone call to 1252 any time day or night will bring a technician to change a tire, install new equipment or provide temporary relief until tire and battery repairs can be completed at the shop. Battery checking and recharging are handled at the shop.

New Plymouth Four-Passenger Coupe

Added this year to the list of Plymouth body styles is this new "Four-Passenger" Deluxe Coupe—that really has plenty of room for five since three can ride more comfortably than ever in this year's wider front seat. Plymouth's larger coupe body for 1940 opens up exceptional space for two auxiliary seats. When not in use these fold away in a special recess, so the added roominess back of the driver's seat becomes useful carrying space. Like all 1940 Plymouths, the new Deluxe Coupe has a 117-inch wheelbase and a new "luxury ride," with bigger windshield and windows and new "Sealed-Beam" headlamps. This year's big Floating Power engine has vital parts Superfinished for longer life.

FORTY CHANGES ON FORD TRUCKS

Greater Overall Economy Is Feature of New 1940 Line

Forty important improvements designed for greater overall economy feature the 1940 line of Ford V-8 trucks and commercial cars, the E. L. Grate Motor Co. announced today. With 42 body and chassis types, six wheelbases and three V-8 engines, it is the broadest in Ford history. Hydraulic brakes are used on all units.

New in the line is the 158-inch wheelbase chassis available in both conventional and cab-over-engine types. It provides an 84-inch cab-to-axle dimension on the conventional type and a 117-inch cab-to-axle dimension on the cab-over-engine type.

New Styling

New styling imparts fresh, new appearance to both the regular trucks and commercial cars. The hood of the regular truck is massive in appearance, its total effect emphasized by perpendicular chrome grille bars and long, horizontal louvers.

Bright V-8 emblems designating the engine type are displayed at the front of the louvers, while a horizontal chrome bar delineating radiator grille from hood, carries the name.

Simply keynotes the new truck chassis design. Longitudinal front springs like those on Ford cab-over-engine trucks make the engine more accessible from the bottom. At the same time, accessibility of oil, gas, and cleaner spark plugs, fuel pump, carburetor and generator has been increased by lowering the sides of the hood.

Easier to Reach

Still another change increases the general "under the hood" accessibility. The fan is mounted on the crankshaft in all conventional trucks, making it easier to reach the distributor. A lower radiator and single fan belt contribute to ease of service.

The new design provides for drive through the springs. This introduces chassis changes which make it much easier to service the clutch, transmission, universal joints and rear axle and facilitates the installation of special equipment. Needle-bearing universal joints are used on all trucks.

Long, flexible front and rear springs with over-size plus provide exceptional cushioning for load. They also give an additional point of support for each frame side rail, which results in a decrease in frame stress due to less unsupported length. The front springs are carried on a larger, heavier front axle.

A reduction in chassis weight contributes to operating economy and also leaves more of the gross vehicle weight available for payload.

Bargains are plentiful. The ads. will tell you where.

GYPSIES' TRIO WIDELY KNOWN

Each Member of Group Is Known As Genuine Artist

Sade and her Vagabond Gypsies are advertised as the entertainers this week at the Hotel Metzger's Silver Cocktail room, but in fairness to these girls, it must be said that merely "entertainers" is certainly an inadequate description of their musical ability.

At least, it tells only in a small way the story of these girls' artistry.

In the two years in which they have been playing together, they have performed before leading organizations in the state, such as the Ohio Hotel association, state political associations, Timkin Roller Bearing company banquets and other industrial gatherings, hospitals and similar welfare groups.

They have played at most of the leading hotels in the state.

Miss Sade Haddad, who inspired the creation of this trio, is exceptionally talented. She has appeared at countless concerts and musicals and on broadcasts from WHBG, WADC, WKBN, WJAY and other stations. She has several compositions to her credit and is a brilliant interpreter of Oriental music. Beha Vitoski, the violinist, and Violet Defalco, soprano, also are widely known in musical circles as genuine artists.

THANKSGIVING MEANS FLOWERS

They're Necessary Part of Decorations for Home and Table

Thanksgiving will be here Thursday, first holiday of the fall and winter season and forerunner of the Christmas season.

It will be a signal for the reunion of families and friends with the dinner table as a factor contributing much to the enjoyment of the event.

There will be two time-honored "standbys" in evidence for these celebrations. The proverbial Thanksgiving turkey is one, and, almost as important, the appropriate decorations—flowers in most cases.

One would be incomplete without the other. There are more than merely physical desires to be gratified at occasions such as these if they are to prove successful and it would be difficult to find anything better than flowers to achieve this result.

REPAIRING NEED NOT COST MUCH

Changes About Home Can Be Made Without Heavy Outlay

Dozens of improvements can be made about the home without a heavy outlay of money, according to Wm. Kohler of the Damascus Lumber Co., at Damascus.

Much of this work can be done within the months of this fall and winter at little or no discomfort. Finishing of rooms in attics, enclosing of a porch or partitioning of the basement are only a few of the improvements carried out at this time of year.

A basement can be converted into one of the most useful part of the house by partitioning off spaces for items frequently stored there. Heating units, laundry room, play and recreation room or workshop can be partitioned off and improved to be as comfortable a section of the home as any.

In remodeling of homes or business buildings, special attention should be given, Mr. Kohler says, to proper planning and building of stairways. National Safety council figures show that 23 per cent of all home accidents occur on stairways and steps. Careful check and repair of stairways should be a part of every remodeling project.

Paris Cleaners Aid Preparation For Holiday Time

Preparations are getting under way for the observance of the year-end holidays. December parties and other events of the festive season just coming up.

Taking an active, although unseen part in these arrangements will be the Paris Cleaners, first aid to the busy housewife who from now on, will have a thousand and one things to do before the task is completed.

Much of the household drudgery in the way of cleaning can be taken care of by the Paris Cleaners. They can provide a wide range of service in this respect as well as taking care of the family wardrobe.

If you have not done so yet, give the Paris a ring, tell them what you want cleaned and the job will be done expertly, satisfactorily and the cost will be reasonable.

SAFE DRIVING PLEA SOUNDED

Proper Amount of Caution Will Offset Winter Hazards

During this time of year streets and highways are often made treacherous by slippery surfaces owing to rains.

While it is impossible to control the weather it is possible to control the operation of motor vehicles—and safe driving is of immeasurable value in offsetting the weather hazards.

Consequent upon the inclement weather and poor visibility that mark the autumn months, an increase in pedestrian deaths can be expected unless both drivers and pedestrians exercise more caution. Up to Aug. 1 of this year, 56 pedestrians were killed and 191 were injured on state highways outside municipalities, according to statistics compiled by the traffic engineering division of the Ohio highway department.

As autumn rains or fogs make the streets and highways dangerous, motorists and pedestrians must drive and walk carefully to help reduce the traffic death toll.

Every automobile owner should be certain his car is in perfect mechanical condition. Properly adjusted brakes may save a life; tires that are worn smooth should be traded in for tires with "treads" that will help make that split-second stop that can be so important.

At this time of year, for safety's sake have the Harris Garage check your car for the many little things that mean so much on slippery pavements.

TIRE, BATTERY CHECKUP URGED

Butler Service Center Suggests Preparation For Future

While the weather is still good, motorists are urged to check up on condition of their tires and batteries preparatory to winter driving. Towing charges, repair bills and avoidance of a bad accident may be possible through this check-up, according to Lee Butler, manager of the Butler Service Center on W. State st.

He has seen so many cases where delay in replacement of a worn set of tires has brought later bills and dangers to drivers. So frequently an inefficient battery leaves one stranded without lights or a motor that won't start.

Can Make Easy Terms

Good allowances on old tires and batteries will be given by Mr. Butler on trade-in arrangements. Easy-payment terms can be arranged on all replacement work. Present prices may not be in effect for long, tire manufacturers say, and purchase now will give the customer advantages of lower figures.

The Butler Service Center operates an emergency truck service for tire and battery repair and changing. A telephone call up 1252 any time day or night will bring a workman to change a tire, install new equipment or provide temporary relief until tire and battery repairs can be completed at the shop. Battery checking and recharging are handled at the shop.

This year's big Floating Power engine has vital parts Superfinished for longer life.

FORTY CHANGES ON FORD TRUCKS

Greater Overall Economy Is Feature of New 1940 Line

Forty important improvements designed for greater overall economy feature the 1940 line of Ford V-8 trucks and commercial cars, the E. L. Grate Motor Co. announced today. With 42 body and chassis types, six wheelbases and three V-8 engines, it is the broadest in Ford history. Hydraulic brakes are used on all units.

New in the line is the 158-inch wheelbase chassis available in both conventional and cab-over-engine types. It provides an 84-inch cab-to-axle dimension on the conventional type and a 117-inch cab-to-axle dimension on the cab-over-engine type.

New Styling

New styling imparts fresh, new appearance to both the regular trucks and commercial cars. The hood of the regular truck is massive in appearance, its top edge emphasized by perpendicular chrome grille bars and long, horizontal louvers.

Bright V-8 emblems designating the engine type are displayed at the front of the louvers, while a horizontal chrome bar, delineating radiator grille from hood, carries the name.

Simplicity keynotes the new truck chassis design. Longitudinal front springs like those on Ford cab-over-engine trucks make the engine more accessible from the bottom. At the same time, accessibility of oil gage, air cleaner, spark plugs, fuel pump, carburetor and generator has been increased by lowering the sides of the hood.

Easier to Reach

Still another change increases the "turn the hood" accessibility. The fan is mounted on the crankshaft in all conventional trucks, making it easier to reach the distributor. A lower radiator and single fan belt contribute to ease of servicing.

The new design provides for drive through the springs. This introduces chassis changes which make it much easier to service the clutch, transmission, universal joints and rear axle and facilitates the installation of special equipment. Needle-bearing universal joints are used on all trucks.

Long, flexible front and rear springs with over-size pins provide exceptional cushioning for load. They also give an additional point of support for each frame side rail, which results in a decrease in frame stress due to less unsupported length. The front springs are carried on a larger, heavier front axle. A reduction in chassis weight contributes to operating economy and also leaves more of the gross vehicle weight available for payload.

Plot for Throne?

Among sensations brought out by the suit of Princess Stefanie Hohenlohe-Waldenburg, Austrian-born ex-wife of a Hungarian prince, against Viscount Rothermere, influential British publisher, was a charge that Rothermere wanted his son, shown above, to be king of Hungary. The princess charges breach of contract in the suit, claiming she acted as the publisher's foreign representative. Her counsel said she had persuaded Rothermere to campaign in behalf of Hungarian nationalism but had rejected his proposal of trying to make his son king.

Nation's Unbeaten Football Teams Making Stubborn Stands

GROUP IS STILL HOPEFUL ABOUT TRIP TO BOWL

Oklahoma Stumbles, But There Are Many Others Still At Top

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Any college football team that gets this far in the season and still clings to hopes about winning a championship or taking a year-end bowl trip generally is very stubborn and almost dying.

Oklahoma's Sooners, intent upon winning Missouri's Paul Christman a conference pass sitting down, forgot Ronnie King could stand up and kick. As a result, they suffered their first defeat, 7-6, at Missouri's hands Saturday and a similar loss in national prestige.

A blocked kick enabled once-beaten Duke to eliminate North Carolina from unbeaten ranks, 13-3, and take up the Southern conference lead. Otherwise, the national unbeaten situation remains much the same.

Cornell, Tennessee and Texas A. & M. held their places as national leaders among a dozen unbeaten and untied teams, with Duquesne and Colorado Mines in second rank. The contenders for the Pacific coast conference title and a New Year's day job in the Rose Bowl—Southern California and U. C. L. A.—are unbeaten but tied along with Tulane, Georgetown, Rutgers and Richmond.

Misery Loves Company
More than a dozen big names in football, including Missouri, Ohio State, Duke and Notre Dame, are on the list of once-beaten teams that can hold up their heads in any company.

Surveying the situation by sections:

EAST: Cornell's 35-6 rout of Dartmouth convinced doubters the Red team is the east's class. Cornell ends the season Saturday against Pennsylvania, which yielded to Michigan, 19-17. It isn't hard to pick Cornell the "Ivy League" champion.

Duquesne, idle Saturday, faces Carnegie Tech, which lost 20-0 to Holy Cross, Georgetown, once tied, wound up its second unbeaten season with a 14-0 win over New York.

Penn State's Tiers took the "Big Three" crown by beating Yale, 37-7, and encounter Navy next. Yale and Harvard clash in their traditional "big game" Penn State, which tied Army, 14-14, and Pittsburg, beaten 14-13 by Nebraska, meet in another important contest, as do Columbia and Colgate, which tied 25-0 by Tulane and 7-0 by Richmond, respectively.

SOUTH: Duke figures to retain its Southern conference lead by beating North Carolina State, which won at Furman 12-7. "Richmond," a line for a share of the title, plays Thursday against William and Mary, which downed Washington and Lee, 18-14. Clemson, with similar prospects, is idle.

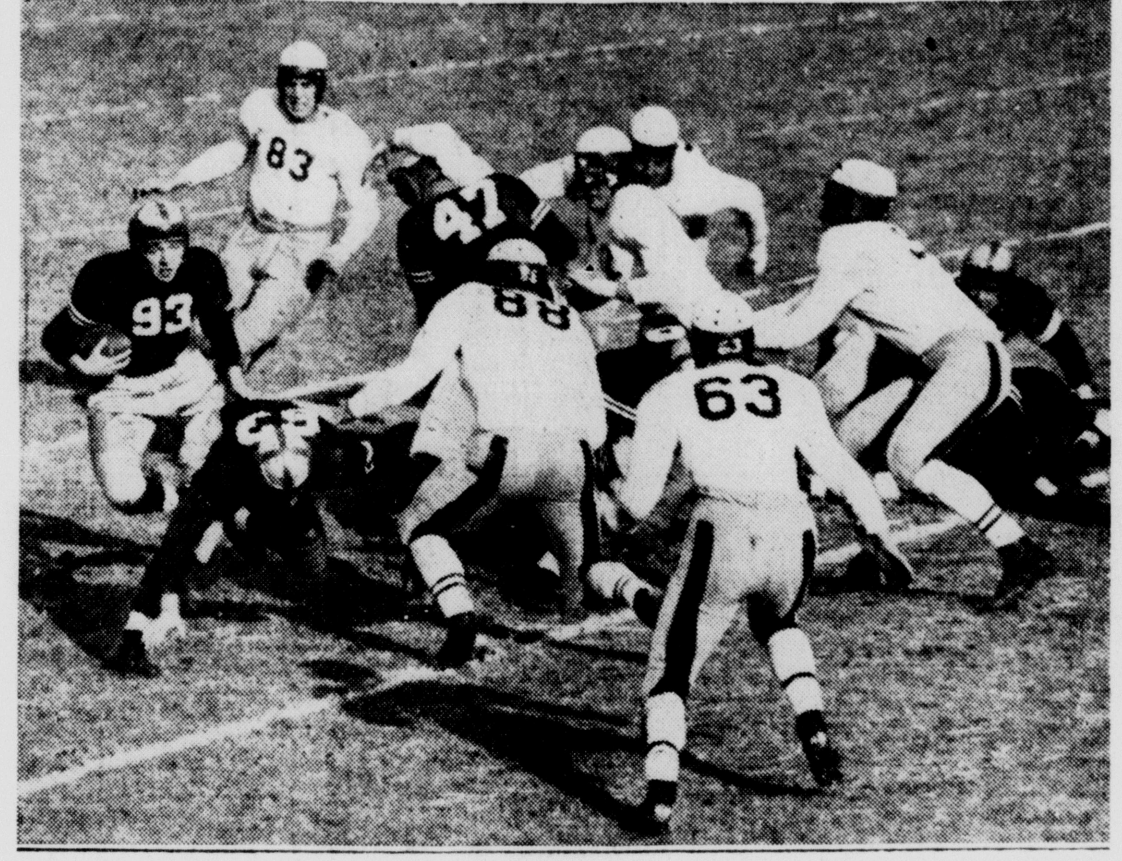

Shares Southeast LeAd
Tennessee, despite its 13-0 win over Vanderbilt, shares the Southeastern conference lead with Georgia Tech, 6-0 winner over Alabama. The Yellow Jackets may again until they meet Kentucky Nov. 30. Meanwhile, Tech faces Florida, which won in a surprising 13-0 victory over Miami. Tulane, also in the title picture, has a workout listed against Sewanee, which beat the Citadel, 14-7.

MIDWEST: Ohio State can't get more than a tie for the Big Ten crown as a result of Saturday's 21-10 win over Illinois. And even if the Buckeyes blow their chance to clinch with Michigan Saturday, they may be tied until Iowa gets past Northwestern, Iowa, with Nile Kinnick again in the 60-minute starting lineup, beat Minnesota, 13-9. While Northwestern lost, 7-0 to Ohio State.

The situation is similar in the West, where Miss. only has only a tie for the title. The Yellow Jackets may again until they meet Kentucky Nov. 30. Meanwhile, Tech faces Florida, which won in a surprising 13-0 victory over Miami. Tulane, also in the title picture, has a workout listed against Sewanee, which beat the Citadel, 14-7.

Notre Dame faces Southern California in a game that comes close to being the week's showdown. The Irish were idle Saturday. Michigan State plays Temple in another sectional tilt.

Hutchinson Stars, But Cornell Crushes Indian, 35-6

Cornell's untied, unbeaten football machine crushed a strong Dartmouth eleven with awesome ease in their annual classic at Hanover N. H., scoring in every period to win, 35-6. Only safety to the Indians was the inspired running of Bill Hutchinson, who accounted for most of the 150 yards Dartmouth gained by rushing. Above, he carries the ball for a seven-yard gain and one of the Indians' nine first downs. Cornell gained 327 yards rushing and made 20 first downs.

Coach Al Beach's Lads Finish Second In Tri-County Race

COLUMBIANA, Nov. 20.—Columbiana High school gridders closed their season with an easy 39-0 triumph over Lisbon Saturday, copping undisputed second place in the Tri-County league race.

It was the fourth win in six games against circuit teams. A defeat by Boardman cost Coach Beach's eleven a tie for the title with Minerva, as those two engaged in a 7-7 deadlock in their meeting.

Columbiana scored almost at will on Lisbon, netting a touchdown on the fourth play of the game. DeWalt breaking through center and racing 62 yards from the Lisbon 38. Zellers made the extra point by placement.

Faulk scored the second touchdown of the game from the one-yard line a few minutes after the second quarter began. Burkle plunged over the extra point.

The Columbiana third score of the game came after a 75-yard march down the field. Burkle plunging over from the one-foot line. Hollinger missed the extra point when he was stopped on a line plunge attempt.

A 35-yard pass, Dewalt to Zellers, set the stage for another marker in the third frame, Dewalt carrying the ball over from the five-yard line. Wilson's plunge failed to get the extra point. Faulk took a pass from Zellers and ran 40 yards for the fifth touchdown and in the final quarter Dewalt again went over on the tail end of an 80-yard passing drive.

Potters Defeat Steubenville 7-0

EAST LIVERPOOL, Nov. 20.—Joe Morbito's East Liverpool Potters defeated the Steubenville "Big Red" gridders, 7 to 0, before 8,000 fans at Patterson field here Saturday. The two teams resumed athletic relations after a 17-year lapse.

Right Guard Smith intercepted a pass and ran 35 yards for the Ceramists' lone touchdown early in the second period. McGillicray's pass to Smith added the extra point.

The Big Red resorted to a heavy aerial attack in the last half, but it failed to click. The Potters depended mainly upon line smashing.

Steubenville had an 8-to-7 edge in first downs.

CRAMB'S PASSES GIVE SOUTH 13-6 WIN OVER SALEM

Game Is Bitterly Fought; Officials Stormed By Irate Fans

Jack Cramb and his Youngstown South aerial circus put on a great show Saturday afternoon at Reilly stadium and Salem Quakers paid for it to the tune of 13 to 6.

"Cramb-ed" with action from start to finish, the game was spiced with a near-battle between players of the two teams at the end of the first half and a near-riot involving spectators and officials at the end of the second half.

In both instances, Coach Carl Schroeder and other individuals sufficiently restrained the prospective combatants and open hostilities were avoided.

Rulings Questioned
Rulings of the officials were questioned on one or two occasions, precipitating, to a large extent, the altercations. In one instance Cramb, the flashy South quarterback who was the mainstay of the Youngstown attack all afternoon, with his running, passing and punting, appeared to have deliberately grounded a pass to avoid a 15 to 20-yard loss, but the officials saw it otherwise.

Even in defeat, the Quakers looked better than they have for some time, displaying a variety of plays which proved effective.

Salem threatened in the opening period. Starting from their own 28, the Quakers, with West getting off one nice run for 12 yards, advanced to their own 47. In the ensuing series of plays, Salem drew a 15-yard penalty for holding. With third down coming up and 25 to go on their own 31, Wukotich shot a beautiful pass to Shoe who went to the South 40. West, in two runs, penetrated to the 26. Here they were held for downs and on the fourth, Wukotich's pass to Shoe was incomplete on the South five.

South scored at the end of the second period, with less than two minutes of the half remaining.

This winning touchdown of South's could well have been construed by strict officials as a screened pass and therefore illegal. It was executed quickly, as a play of this kind has to be. Cramb went back, taking the quick pass from center. The South linemen, instead of blocking, let the Salem linemen filter through and the visiting guards, tackles, et cetera, shot over into the left flat.

Simultaneously, Cramb whizzed the ball to Weaver who was going out from end.

Weaver took the ball on the run and kept going, without a hand being laid on him, behind the perfectly lovely blocking of most of the South team.

According to the rules of football, ineligible receivers, such as guards, tackles, etc., when playing as such, have got to stay on that line. In other words, they can't go out with the pass as interference for the receiver.

Works, This Time
This game play has cost Youngstown South at least two touchdowns in previous games. However, it worked Saturday and gave the Mahoning countians the ball game.

Punt Is Fumbled
A fumbled punt paved the way for the touchdown march. Cramb, from his own five, punted to Volio, who fumbled on the 39 where South recovered. South was held and Cramb punted to West on the Sam five and he was downed on the eight.

Unable to gain, Salem kicked and Cramb was downed immediately on the Salem 38. After two ineffective line plays, Cramb passed, from punt formation, to Weaver, who was stopped on the Salem 11.

Another pass was grounded, but Nelson, on the ball on the Salem three, Cramb went through right tackle for the touchdown, but his kick for the point was low.

Twelve plays after the beginning of the third period, the Quakers scored. Cramb kicked to Baillie on his 32 and he was forced out on the 41.

Wukotich picked up eight yards in two line plays and West went to the South 48 on the third. He made seven more over left tackle and Wukotich made it a first down on the South 37.

Two plays later, Wukotich passed to Shoe who was tossed on the Youngstown seven. Wukotich then plunged the line four consecutive times for the touchdown. Volio bobbled the pass from center and the point was lost.

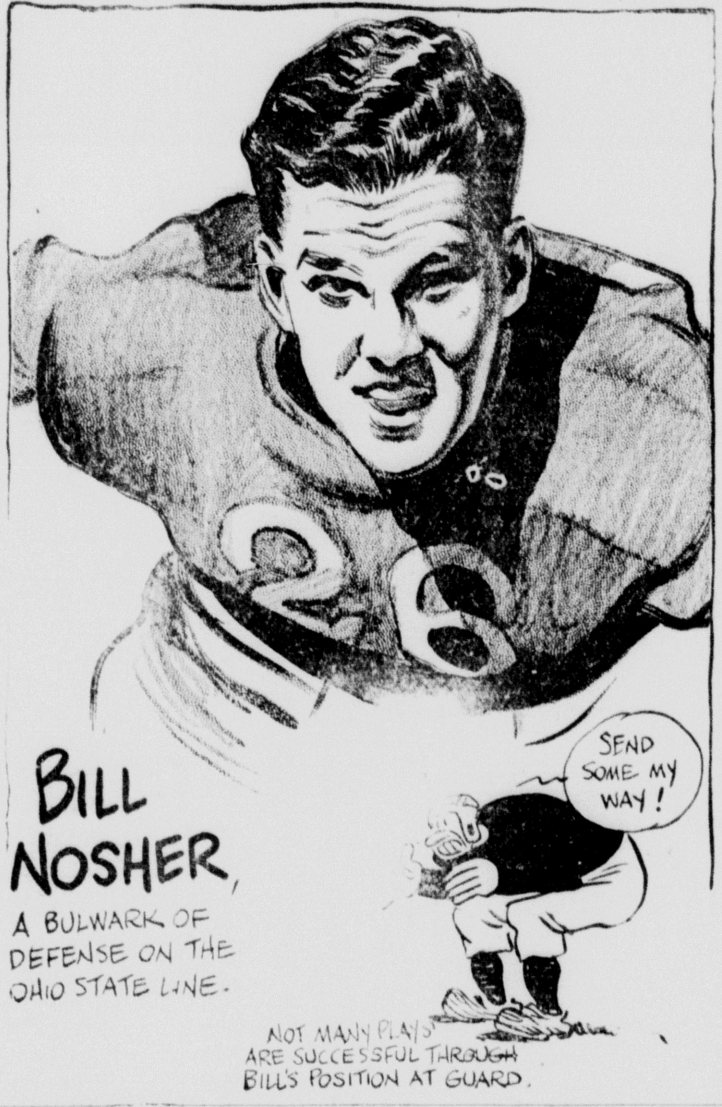

With about three quarters of the final period gone, the visitors headed goalward again.

Unleashes Passes
Cramb collared a Salem punt on South's 45 to start the scoring series. Cramb passed down the center to Brown to the Salem 41. Jeffries, a substitute halfback, made five in the line and then passed to Cramb to put the ball on the 19. Cramb was pretty badly mugged up on the play and with a minute to go, a 6-5 deadlock appeared certain.

However, the Youngstown star came back and on the very next play passed to Weaver in the end zone for the touchdown. Cramb then faked a kick for the point and passed to Weaver for the extra counter.

Both teams in the final seconds played what might charitably be called hard football. Salem drew a 15-yard penalty for unnecessary roughness. South drew a 15-yard setback for holding.

RAMS TROUNCE DETROIT LIONS

Parker Hall In Role of One-Man Show; O'Brien Stars for Philly

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Professional football's glamor boys—the Davey O'Briens and Parker Halls—are finding fame in the cash-and-carry game no harder to achieve than in the college end.

Parker Hall, All-America back at Mississippi a year ago, turned yesterday's game into a one-man show as his Cleveland Rams thrashed the Detroit Lions, 14 to 3, dropping the losers from a tie for first to third place in the western division of the National League.

Hall accounted for both touchdowns with deft aerial pitching, tossing a seven-yard pass to Johnny Wilson for one tally and another to Jim Benton for the second touchdown.

For an entire week the Rams had argued heatedly that their coach, Dutch Clark, should be permitted to play in this grudge game between the two teams, but the Lions declined to release him from his playing contract which they still hold.

Even Hall's performance was below that of Davey O'Brien, Texas Christian All-America of 1938, who completed passes all over the field in vain, for the Philadelphia Eagles. O'Brien connected for 21 out of 36 breaking his own league record of 19 completed passes for a single game, but the Eagles lost to the Chicago Bears, 27 to 14.

BUCKEYES FACE CRUCIAL GAME WITH MICHIGAN

Ohio State and Wolves Will Tangle Saturday In Annual Scrap

BY FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Nov. 20.—The "picture" game of Ohio State's football schedule—the annual scrap with Michigan's Wolves—features next Saturday's grid program, and it's really a crucial contest.

The surprising Bucks, winners of five straight western conference frays, need victory over the Wolves to clinch their first undisputed Big Ten title since 1920, and to avenge the 18 to 0 setback at Michigan's hands last year.

Ohio State is assured of a share of the crown, regardless of the outcome of Saturday's event, tucking away a slice of the laurels Saturday by trampling Illinois 21 to 0. The Bucks still could take the championship should Northwestern beat Iowa Saturday, regardless of the outcome of the Michigan game.

The Illinois team which beat Michigan two weeks ago in the year's biggest upset failed to show much against the Bucks as Ohio ran up the third greatest score it has registered in 23 games with the westerners. Illinois failed to capitalize on a recovered fumble on Ohio's seven yard line on the first play of the game, and from then on it was all Ohio.

The Bucks made three touchdown marches, the first going 93 yards, the second 73 and the last 75, with Quarterback Don Scott, half-back Jimmy Strausbaugh and End Esco Sarkkinen getting the scores. Scott added two points after touchdown, while Tackle Charley Maag booted the other.

This week's schedule:
Thursday, Nov. 23: Baldwin Wallace at Ohio Wesleyan. Case at Western Reserve. Toledo at Xavier. West Virginia at Wilberforce and Miami at Cincinnati.

Saturday, Nov. 25: Ohio State at Michigan. Wittenberg at Oberlin. Alfred Holbrook at Upsala. Heidelberg at Bethany. John Carroll at Akron, and Muskingum at Hofstra.

SWOYERSVILLE, Pa.—Nine children of Dr. and Mrs. John L. Lavin were all in the hospital at the same time for removal of their tonsils. A like operation on a 10th child was postponed because of a cold.

Nation's Unbeaten Football Teams Making Stubborn Stands

GROUP IS STILL HOPEFUL ABOUT TRIP TO BOWL

Oklahoma Stumbles, But There Are Many Others Still At Top

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Any college football team that gets this far in the season and still clings to the idea of winning a championship or taking a year-end bowl trip generally is very stubborn about giving up.

Oklahoma's Sooners, intent upon showing Missouri's Paul Christianman couldn't pass sitting down, for Ronnie King could stand up and kick. As a result, they suffered their first defeat, 7-6, at Missouri's hands Saturday and a similar loss in national prestige.

A blocked kick enabled once-beaten Duke to eliminate North Carolina from unbeaten ranks, 13-3, and take the Southern conference lead. Otherwise, the national gridiron situation remains much the same.

Cornell, Tennessee and Texas A. & M. held their places as national leaders among a dozen unbeaten and untied teams, with Duquesne and Colorado Mines in second rank. The contenders for the Pacific coast conference title and a New Year's day job in the Rose Bowl—Southern California and U. C. L. A.—are unbeaten but tied, along with Tulane, Georgetown, Rutgers and Richmond.

Misery Loves Company
More than a dozen big names in football, including Missouri, Ohio State, Duke and Notre Dame, are on the list of once-beaten teams that can hold up their heads in any company.

Surveying the situation by second-year EAST: Cornell's 35-6 rout of Dartmouth, convinced doubters the Big Red team is the east's class. Cornell ends the season Saturday against Pennsylvania, which yielded to Michigan, 19-17. It isn't hard to pick Cornell the "Ivy League" champion.

On Saturday, faces Dartmouth Tech, which lost 20-0 to Holy Cross. Georgetown, once tied, wound up its second unbeaten season with a 14-0 win over New York U.

Princeton's Tigers took the "Big Three" crown by beating Yale, 37-7, and encounter Navy next, Yale and Harvard clash in their traditional "big game." Penn State, which tied Army, 14-14, and Pittsburgh, beaten 14-13 by Nebraska, meet in another important contest, at Columbia and Colgate, shut out 25-0 by Tulane and 7-0 by Syracuse, respectively.

SOUTH: Duke figures to retain its Southern conference lead by beating North Carolina State, which lost to Furman 12-7. Richmond, in line for a share of the title, plays Thursday against William and Mary, which downed Washington and Lee, 18-14. Clemson, with similar prospects, is idle.

Shares Southeast LeLad
Tennessee, despite its 13-0 win over Vanderbilt, shares the Southeastern conference lead with Georgia Tech, 6-0 winner over Alabama. The Vols, don't play again until they meet Kentucky Nov. 30. Meanwhile Tech face Florida, which turned in a surprising 13-0 victory over Miami. Tulane, also in the title picture, has a workout listed against Sewanee, which beat the Citadel, 14-7.

MIDWEST: Ohio State can't get worse than a tie for the Big Ten title as a result of Saturday's 21-0 victory over Illinois. And even if the Buckeyes blow their climax game with Michigan Saturday, they won't be tied until Iowa gets past Northwestern. Iowa, with Nile Kinnick again in the 60-minute starting line, beat Minnesota, 13-9, while Northwestern lost, 7-0 to Iowa State.

The situation is similar in the Pacific where Missouri has only a tie for Kansas for the title. Kansas lost 14-7 to George Washington last week. Oklahoma and Nebraska, tied for second, settle their argument in the other victory game.

Note Duke faces Southern California in a game that comes close to being the week's standout. The Trojans were idle Saturday. Michigan State plays Temple in another interconference tilt.

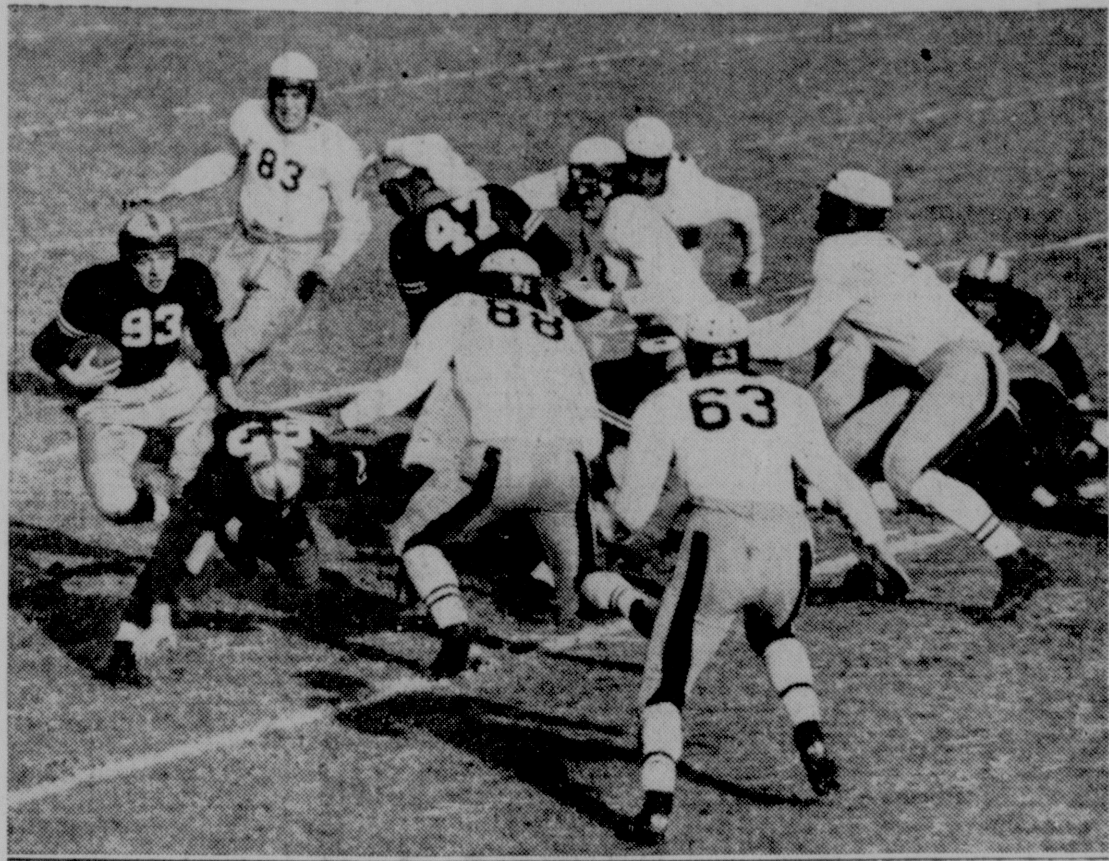

Aggies Face Texas
SOUTHWEST: The all-conquering Texas Aggies meet Texas Nov. 30. Baylor will make another bid to stay in the running for the Southwest conference title when it meets Southern Methodist. Baylor beat Centenary, 13-6, in a non-conference game. The Mustangs were upset victims of Arkansas, 14-0. Friday, Rice, latest victim of the Aggies, plays Texas Christian, which went down, 25-19, before Texas Tech, beaten by Marquette, 22-19, meets another interconference foe, Montana.

PACIFIC COAST: Although held to a scoreless tie by Santa Clara, U. C. L. A. still is in position to beat out Southern California for the Pacific Coast conference championship. The Uclans come up against Oregon State, which has lost only to U. S. C. and handed California a 21-0 lacing Saturday.

The classic Stanford-California game has the status of a cellar-championship as the Indians lost, 7-0, to Washington State. Oregon and Washington play Thursday, as do San Jose State and Fresno State, two of the unbeaten and untied little fellows.

Rocky mountain Big Seven: Colorado's 12-6 triumph over Brigham Young gave the Buffs a clear lead in the Big Seven race, with Denver and Utah tied for second.

Hutchinson Stars, But Cornell Crushes Indian, 35-6

Cornell's untied, unbeaten football machine crushed a strong Dartmouth eleven with awesome ease in their annual classic at Hanover N. H., scoring in every period to win, 35-6. Only solace to the Indians was the inspired running of Bill Hutchinson, who accounted for most of the 150 yards Dartmouth gained by rushing. Above, he carries the ball for a seven-yard gain and one of the Indians' nine first downs. Cornell gained 327 yards rushing and made 20 first downs.

Coach Al Beach's Lads Finish Second In Tri-County Race

COLUMBIANA, Nov. 20.—Columbiana High school gridders closed their season with an easy 30-0 triumph over Lisbon Saturday, coping undisputed second place in the Tri-County league race. It was the fourth win in six games against circuit teams. A defeat by Boardman cost Coach Beach's eleven a tie for the title with Minerva, as those two engaged in a 7-7 deadlock in their meeting.

Columbiana scored almost at will on Lisbon, netting a touchdown on the fourth play of the game, Dewalt breaking through center and racing 62 yards from the Lisbon 38. Placers made the extra point by placement.

Columbiana's third score of the game came after a 75-yard march down the field. Burke plunging over from the one-foot line. Holinger missed the extra point when he was stopped on a line plunge attempt.

A 35-yard pass, Dewalt to Zellers, set the stage for another marker in the third frame, Dewalt carrying the ball over from the five-yard marker. Wilson's plunge failed to net the extra point. Potters Defeat Steubenville 7-0

EAST LIVERPOOL, Nov. 20.—Joe Morbito's East Liverpool Potters defeated the Steubenville "Big Red" gridders, 7 to 0, before 8,000 fans at Patterson Field here Saturday when the two teams resumed athletic relations after a 17-year lapse. Right Guard Smith intercepted a pass and ran 35 yards for the Ceramists' lone touchdown early in the second period. McGilivray's pass to Rindfuss set up the extra point. The Big Red resorted to a heavy aerial attack in the last half, but it failed to click. The Potters depended mainly upon line smashing. Steubenville had an 8-to-7 edge in first downs.

CRAMB'S PASSES GIVE SOUTH 13-6 WIN OVER SALEM

Game Is Bitterly Fought; Officials Stormed Byirate Fans

Jack Cramb and his Youngstown South aerial circus put on a great show Saturday afternoon at Reilly stadium and Salem Quakers paid for it to the tune of 13 to 6.

"Cramb-ed" with action from start to finish, the game was speeded with a near-battle between players of the two teams at the end of the first half and a riot involving spectators and officials at the end of the second half. In both instances, Coach Carl Schroeder and other individuals sufficiently restrained the prospective combatants and open hostilities were avoided.

Rulings of the officials were questioned on one or two occasions, precipitating, to a large extent, the alterations. In one instance Cramb, the flashy South quarterback who was the mainstay of the Youngstown attack all afternoon, with his running, passing and punting, appeared to have deliberately grounded a pass to avoid a 15 to 20-yard loss, but the officials saw it otherwise.

Even in defeat, the Quakers looked better than they have for some time, displaying a variety of plays which proved effective.

This winning touchdown of South's could well have been construed by strict officials as a screened pass and therefore illegal. It was executed quickly, as a play of this kind has to be. Cramb went back, taking the quick pass from center. The South linemen, instead of blocking, let the Salem linemen filter through and the visiting guards, tackles, et cetera, shot over into the left flat.

Simultaneously, Cramb whizzed the ball to Weaver who was going out from end. Weaver took the ball on the run and kept going, without a hand being laid on him, behind the perfectly lovely blocking of most of the South team.

According to the rules of football, ineligible receivers, such as guards, tackles, etc., when playing as such, have got to stay on that scrimmage line until the pass is thrown. In other words, they can't go out with the pass as interference for the receiver.

Works, This Time
This same play has cost Youngstown South at least two touchdowns in previous games. However, it worked Saturday and gave the Mahoning countians the ball game.

Punt Is Fumbled
A fumbled punt paved the way for the touchdown march. Cramb, from his own five, punted to Vollo, who fumbled on the 37. South's lovely blocking of most of the Salem five and he was downed on the eight.

Unable to gain, Salem kicked and Cramb was downed immediately on the Salem 38. After two ineffective line plays, Cramb passed, from punt formation, to Weaver, who was stopped on the Salem 14. Another pass was grounded, but the next aerial toss, Cramb to Nelson, put the ball on the Salem three. Cramb went through right tackle for the touchdown, but his kick for the point was low.

Twelve plays after the beginning of the third period, the Quakers scored. Cramb kicked to Baillie on his 32 and he was forced out on the 41. Wukotich picked up eight yards in two line plunges and West went to the South 46 on the third. He made seven more over left tackle and Wukotich made it a first down on the South 37.

Two plays later, Wukotich passed to Shoe who was teased on the Youngstown seven. Wukotich then plunged the line four consecutive times for the touchdown. Vollo bobbled the pass from center and the point was lost.

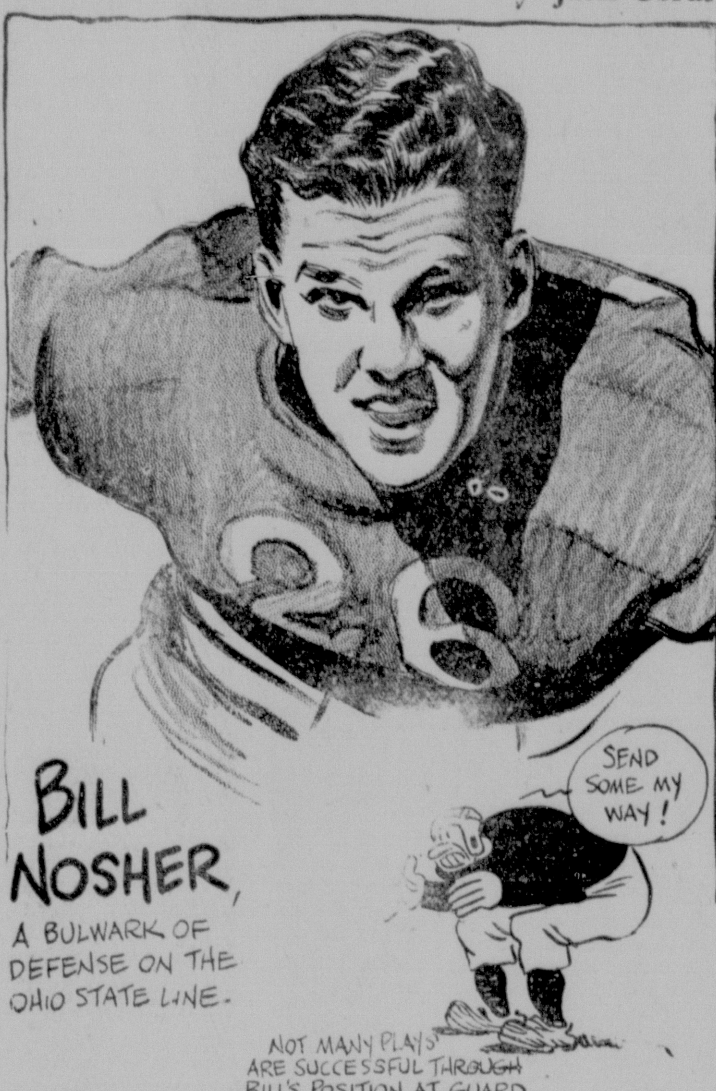

With about three quarters of the final period gone, the visitors headed goalward again.

Unleashes Passes
Cramb collared a Salem punt on South's 45 to start the scoring series. Cramb passed down the center to Brown to the Salem 41. Jeffries, a substitute halfback, made five in the line and then passed to Cramb to put the ball on the 19. Cramb was pretty badly mugged up on the play and with a minute to go, a 6-6 deadlock appeared certain. However, the Youngstown star came back and on the very next play passed to Weaver in the end zone for the touchdown. Cramb then faked a kick for the point and passed to Weaver for the extra counter.

Both teams in the final seconds played what might charitably be called hard football. Salem drew a 15-yard penalty for unnecessary roughness. South drew a 15-yard setback for holding.

As the timer's gun barked the end of the conflict, possibly a hundred fans swarmed onto the field and there was much shoving and pushing around with the of-

RAMS TROUNCE DETROIT LIONS

Parker Hall In Role of One-Man Show; O'Brien Stars for Philly

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Professional football's glamor boys—the Davey O'Brien and Parker Hall—are finding fame in the cash-and-carry game no harder to achieve than in the college end.

Parker Hall, All-America back at Mississippi a year ago, turned yesterday's game into a one-man show as his Cleveland Rams thrashed the Detroit Lions, 14 to 3, dropping the losers from a tie for first to third place in the western division of the National League.

Hall accounted for both touchdowns with deft aerial pitching, tossing seven-yard passes to Johnny Wilson for one tally and another to Jim Benton for the second touchdown.

For an entire week the Rams had argued heatedly that their coach, Dutch Clark, should be permitted to play in this grudge game between the two teams, but the Lions declined to release him from his playing contract which they still hold.

Even Hall's performance was below that of Davey O'Brien, Texas Christian All-America of 1938, who completed passes all over the field, in vain, for the Philadelphia Eagles. O'Brien connected for 21 out of 36, breaking his own league record of 19 completed passes for a single game, but the Eagles lost to the Chicago Bears, 27 to 14.

BUCKEYES FACE CRUCIAL GAME WITH MICHIGAN

Ohio State and Wolves Will Tangle Saturday In Annual Scrap

BY FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Nov. 20.—The "picture" game of Ohio State's football schedule—the annual scrap with Michigan's Wolves—features next Saturday's grid program, and it's really a crucial contest.

The surprising Bucks, winners of five straight western conference frays, need victory over the Wolves to clinch their first undisputed Big Ten title since 1920, and to avenge the 18 to 0 setback at Michigan's hands last year.

Ohio State is assured of a share of the crown, regardless of the outcome of Saturday's event, tucking away a slice of the laurels Saturday by trampling Illinois 21 to 0. The Bucks still could take the championship should Northwestern beat Iowa Saturday, regardless of the outcome of the Michigan game.

The Illinois team which beat Michigan two weeks ago in the year's biggest upset failed to show much against the Bucks as Ohio ran up the third greatest score it has registered in 28 games with the westerners. Illinois failed to capitalize on a recovered fumble on Ohio's seven yard line on the first play of the game, and from then on it was all Ohio.

The Bucks made three touchdowns marches, the first going 93 yards, the second 73 and the last 75, with Quarterback Don Scott, half-back Jimmy Strausbaugh and End Esco Sarkinen getting the scores. Scott added two points after touchdown, while Tackle Charley Maag booted the other.

This week's schedule:
Thursday, Nov. 23: Baldwin Wallace at Ohio Wesleyan. Case at Western Reserve. Toledo at Xavier. West Virginia at Wilberforce and Miami at Cincinnati.

Saturday, Nov. 25: Ohio State at Michigan. Wittenberg at Oberlin. Alfred Holbrook at Upsala, Heidelberg at Bethany, John Carroll at Akron, and Muskingum at Hofstra.

SWOYERSVILLE, Pa.—Nine children of Dr. and Mrs. John L. Lavin were all in the hospital at the same time for removal of their tonsils. A like operation on a 10th child was postponed because of a cold.

"KNIGHT ERRANT"

by Jack McDonald

CHAPTER XV
Snapper's chin dropped and there was a faraway look in his eyes. "I hope Flo Kane didn't get her bet down," he said, almost in an undertone.

Slim leveled two steely eyes at Snapper, and asked:

"How does Flo come in on this?"

Flo, a mutual friend, lived in Chicago. She had been a show-girl with a bit of talent, until all the curves of her once lithe figure started accumulating in one place. Now she had a small dress shop on Wilson avenue. She was one of that hard working "good fellow" type of girls.

Flo liked race trackers because they spoke her language, and her small place on the North Side was practically home to Slim and Snapper during the summer season at Arlington, Lincoln Fields and Washington Park. Slim valued her friendship.

"Come on now, Snapper. I want to know! What has Flo got to do with all this?"

"I... uh... I sent her a wire saying Knight Errant would win, sure, and I... I signed your name to it," Snapper gulped.

Slim knew Flo trusted him. He knew, too, that she had a tiny little bankroll saved up, and a wire on a horse from him would have been like some mystic oracle from the gods.

"I was only trying to help her, Slim, honest I was," Snapper pleaded. "I figured Knight Errant was home free, and I knew she wouldn't hold still for a message from me, so I signed your name."

"It's quits with you and me, Snapper, when you start selling me down the river to a pal like Flo," Slim said between his teeth.

For the moment he meant it. He tore away from the stricken Snapper. Turning the clubhouse corner Slim had to stop short to avoid bumping into Heather Mills.

"Miss Mills," he blurted out dramatically, in spite of himself. "Knight Errant is a cinch today—to lose. Bassitt's betting on another horse in the race."

The glance from her blue eyes withered him. Later he would admit he never felt smaller in his life than in that moment when Heather answered without sarcasm, but with a gentleness that seared more than scorn.

"Knight Errant will lose? Thank you so much for telling me. You haven't been right about him yet, have you, Mr. Maynard? Or about my friend, Mr. Bassitt, either. I was planning only to bet five dollars on Knight Errant. Now I'll bet TEN!"

Slim stood frowning in thought on the clubhouse lawn at Bay Meadows. He was smarting under Heather's rebuke administered the moment before, but also he was cogitating.

Both Flo's bankroll and Heather's helplessness needed his defense and the combination of the two inspired him to heavy thinking. He looked about him for some sort of inspiration.

His scowling glance fell upon chesty little Dimples Draper Bassitt's rider swagging over the lawn on his way to the jockey's room. It occurred to Slim the boy was looking "awfully high on himself."

Suddenly Slim's lean features broke out in a grin born of pure inspired mischief. He looked at his watch. It was more than two hours before post time for Knight Errant's race.

Slim hurried around the clubhouse in search of Snapper, who had been avoiding him in sorrowful reproach ever since Slim had told him "it's quits between you and me." He found Snapper leaning dejectedly against a post by the grandstand, the picture of a man without a friend.

"Hey, Snapper!" Slim called eagerly, forgetting that only a few minutes before he had ended their friendship forever.

The prospect of being back in Slim's good graces put wings on Snapper's feet as he raced over to join Slim.

"Snapper, do you know that Kid Draper personally?"

"Only that he rides like a park policeman," beamed the forgiving Snapper.

"And he doesn't know you?"

"Not from Adam's off ox. Why?"

"Never mind just now. You wait right here. I'll be back in a minute."

Slim dashed up the grandstand steps two at a time and over to the press box, where he asked Red to type on a receiving blank what he told him. "Make it look official now like a real telegram," he added.

Hurrying back to where Snapper was waiting Slim asked him to read the "telegram from Louisville," addressed to "Snapper Elliot, St. Francis Hotel, San Francisco," and signed "Colonel F. G. Bradford."

The wire read:

"WORKHAM CANNOT MAKE WEIGHT ANYMORE SO NEED LIGHT YOUNG BOY FOR FIRST STRING RIDER STOP UNDERSTAND DRAPER IS TOPS ON COAST STOP LOOK HIM OVER AND IF SATISFACTORY SIGN HIM UP SALARY TEN THOUSAND YEAR PLUS BONUS AND LUNCH MONEY STOP MAKE SURE BOY IS GOOD TWO YEAR OLD RIDER."

"Now, hurry over and get to Draper before the judges start nosing around," ordered Slim. "Show him this wire and tell him if he puts up a good ride on Knight Errant this afternoon, you'll recommend him to the Colonel."

"And," Slim added, "if he doesn't tumble, start appealing to his vanity; that'll get that chesty little sprout."

"I get the idea," Snapper smiled, anxious to redeem himself in Slim's eyes. "Here's where I won't let you down."

Snapper caught Dimples Draper coming out of the jockey's room fifteen minutes later.

"Hey, Peewee," Snapper called. "Come here."

And Snapper pulled the "telegram from the Colonel" out of his pocket, saying:

"Read this. It just came this morning. I'm Snapper Elliot, Colonel Bradford's head scout."

Snapper thought Dimples' eyes would pop out at the thought of taking the great Workham's job. The jockey read the wire over twice.

"Thank you could do it?" asked Snapper, and Draper nodded an emphatic yes.

"Well, I don't," roared Snapper. "The ride you put up on Little Eskimo yesterday was terrible."

"Well, I won with him, didn't I?" Draper protested.

"Yeah, but you let the horse get away from you after the race and the lead pony had to bring you back to the stands. And when you got back there, you'd lost your whip and couldn't even salute the judges."

And Snapper went on to point out that Colonel Bradford ran a high class stable and "wouldn't stand for any funny stuff."

"You riding anything this afternoon, kid?" asked Snapper, pretending to be indifferent.

"I'm riding a two-year-old named Knight Errant for Mr. Bassitt," answered Draper.

"Good," said Snapper. "You see what the telegram says about the Colonel, wanting a good two-year-old rider?" and he pointed a finger at the portion of the wire referring to the matter.

Snapper surveyed the boy's baby face and told himself he had Draper about won over. But he pressed the argument.

"You know what it means, don't you, Draper? The big headlines. Riding in stake engagements. A shot in the Kentucky Derby with a live horse."

This was making a big impression Snapper saw, and he allowed himself a short pause for it to seep through the boy's overswollen head.

"But I'm not promising you a thing. I'm going to be watching that kid, Screwball Butler, on Lightning Bug, too. I think he can out-ride you, anyway."

Draper's boyish eyes brightened. "You mean if I out-ride Butler in the race I get the job?"

"I don't mean nothing else, kid," said Snapper. "Now let's see you get out there and do your stuff—like you'll be doing it for the Colonel if you win."

"I'm going to have a big strong pair of glasses on you, watching every move you make. Now I'll tell you how to ride this colt, Knight Errant. Hustle him right out of the gate. Give him one of those hurry-up rides."

The race is only five-eighths and he'll hold his top speed all the way over that short distance, so keep crowding him. You can't rush him too much. And say, kid, mum's the word. I don't want people to know I'm even in town."

And, unthinkingly, the race was being planned for him in the above manner; unthinkingly Slim's anxiety and Heather's faith in him, Knight Errant was taking a pre-race snooze in his stall in the Bassitt stable, dreaming, perhaps, of romping home in visionary derbies.

"Draper fell for the gag, hook, line and sinker," Snapper reported breathlessly to Slim after his pow-wow with the rosy cheeked rider outside the jockey room. "He's going to cross Bassitt and ride Knight Errant to win!"

Slim was skeptical. He had had only nominal faith in the success of his idea of tricking Draper in the first place. It was just one of those long shot fliers that seldom click.

"Draper will be sure to tell Bassitt everything when they get together in the paddock to saddle up," he warned Snapper. "He'll see right through our scheme and tell the jockey someone was trying to make a fool out of him."

Rolf, a German Shepherd, arrives from Belgium on the Penland, at Hoboken, N. J., with tag "luggage left behind" on his neck. He is awaiting his master, who left the dog in Brussels when he came to New York last May. Slim, however, was intrigued with the thought that he had something to look forward to, no matter how the race came out. If Knight Errant won he would be $5,000 to the good and Flo's bankroll would be benefited.

And if the colt lost, Slim's prophetic warning to Heather might open the way to her confidence.

But, win or lose, the day held it's promise of thrills for Slim. It was a warm spring peninsula afternoon and Seabiscuit was to run in the feature race.

Film Stars See Movies Regularly, Go Unnoticed to Neighborhood Houses

(By International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 16.—One of the best ways to see movie stars in the flesh in Hollywood is to discover their favorite neighborhood theaters.

Most of the stars are movie fans themselves. The few who are not nevertheless see several pictures each week. It's an important part of their jobs to keep up with the most important productions and study the work of other players.

At the neighborhood houses they can usually slip in without being noticed and exit just as unobtrusively. The fact that the patrons of these theaters never dream of seeing stars except at occasional "sneak" previews undoubtedly helps.

Use Stagger System
Every player has his or her favorite neighborhood theater. Usually it is some distance away from the star's home, as that helps protect the incognito element. Some stars have several theaters which they attend at irregular intervals.

Priscilla and Rosemary Lane, for example, see most of their movies at four different neighborhood houses in San Fernando Valley. They may go to the same theater two evenings in succession, then attend another house for their next show. They take no particular pains to disguise themselves, but they are never bothered by autograph seekers and curious crowds.

James Cagney has been attending the same two theaters in a quiet, residential section for years.

John Garfield usually goes to neighborhood theaters on the outskirts of Los Angeles' industrial section. He likes to mingle with and study the audiences there. So far he has escaped recognition.

even when his own starring pictures were the attractions.

Morris Sees His Twice

Paul Muni frequently drops in to see a show at the beach neighborhood house that Jane Bryan, his leading lady in "We Are Not Alone," attends regularly. Betty Davis is a fairly regular patron of a neighborhood theater in Beverly Hills and Errol Flynn has several favorite theaters in Hollywood.

Wayne Morris always makes it a point to see his own pictures at a neighborhood theater several weeks after they have been released. He usually attends the press previews but is so nervous he doesn't see much of the pictures.

Managers of the various theaters frequented by the stars recognize their famous patrons, of course. They make it a practice, however, to respect their confidence and realize the stars are coming to their theaters to see, not to be seen.

MIGRANTS ARE LIKE PARIAHS WPA Study Finds Roving Farm Workers Are Ostracized

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Stories of exploitation and social ostracism of migratory workers presented in "The Grapes of Wrath" and other works of fiction are closely paralleled in a report of migrant families prepared by W. P. A. research workers.

The report, entitled "Migratory Cotton Workers in Arizona," gave a detailed account of the activities of 518 migrant families in this state early in 1938.

It said homeless workers were attracted to Arizona by distorted advertising, only to find below subsistence wages, unsanitary living conditions, and social barriers as rigid and inflexible as to be found anywhere.

Seek Cheap Labor

"Although Arizona's most valuable crop (cotton) cannot be harvested without them," the report said, "itinerant cotton pickers are regarded as pariahs, and farmers feel their children are degraded by contact in school with poor migrants."

The report said as much as $300,000 had been spent by Arizona producers in a single year to attract a cheap labor supply to this state. Mediums usually used were display advertising in newspapers, handbills, and publicity, all promising good pay, good living conditions in the camps and a "healthy, salubrious climate."

"Actually," the investigators reported, "possible earnings appear to have been much lower than those stated in the advertising. Under prevailing wages, their jobs ordinarily provide only a meager day-to-day existence at best, and the workers have no reserves to tide them over slack times."

Average earnings of a cotton picker were found to be about $6 to $8 a week and only in one instance was a worker able to earn as much as $16 a week. Large families with four workers or more averaged a gross income of $18.38 for a week's work.

The report presented a scene of poor living conditions in the camps, describing them as "filthy, make-shift collection of shelters, frequently lacking even elementary sanitary facilities."

Student Revolt Brings Gestapo to Czechs

Armed German Storm Troopers and German policemen occupied the Masaryk School and other universities in Prague when students, boys and girls, demonstrated against the Nazis. Top, is a recent student demonstration in Bratislava. Below, is the Masaryk school, where shots were fired as the Nazis placed 1,200 students under arrest.

Many migrants must appeal for direct relief upon completion of the harvest, the report said, because their meager earnings will not carry them as far as the next area where a harvest may be underway.

Willing To Work

"The migrant's plan for further movement at the end of the season reflects his bewilderment and hopelessness in a situation where few had enough money to go anywhere."

"The very fact of his migration is an indication of his will to undergo hardships for the sake of a job. The migrant workman is not a relief applicant by choice, but by bitter necessity."

More puffs per pack...and More Mildness, Coolness, and Flavor with Slower-Burning Camels

The costlier tobaccos are slower-burning...milder...cooler...mellower

MANY a smoker has switched to Camels because his value-sense applauded the thrift of getting more puffs per pack. But... That's only one small part of the story of slow burning. You get a lot more than savings! You get extra mildness! Common sense tells you that a fast, fiery, hot-burning cigarette will not smoke comfortably or yield a delicate taste and fragrance. And that slower-burning tobaccos naturally would be mild and mellow. You get extra coolness. You needn't be a scientist to know that the slower tobacco burns, the cooler the smoking. You get extra-fine flavor. Excess heat ruthlessly destroys the subtle elements of flavor and aroma. Slow-burning Camels tell their own taste-tale! So...for thrift and for a smoking thrill...light up a slower-burning Camel!

For More Mildness, Coolness, and Flavor

SLOW-BURNING COSTLIER TOBACCOS

SMOKERS: SAVE THE COST OF THE STATE CIGARETTE TAX

Smokers who live in communities where certain state cigarette taxes are in effect can save the cost of the tax—and, in some instances, more—through smoking Camels. (See right.) When you are a Camel smoker, you get this unique economy—and all the extra enjoyment of cooler, milder smoking—the fragrance and delicate taste of finer, more costly tobaccos.

By burning 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them—CAMELS give a smoking plus equal to

More puffs per pack...and

More Mildness, Coolness, and Flavor with Slower-Burning Camels

The costlier tobaccos are slower-burning...milder...cooler...mellower

MANY a smoker has switched to Camels because his value-sense applauded the thrift of getting more puffs per pack. But...

That's only one small part of the story of slow burning. You get a lot more than savings!

You get extra mildness! Common sense tells you that a fast, fiery, hot-burning cigarette will not smoke comfortably or yield a delicate taste and fragrance. And that slow-burning tobaccos naturally would be mild and mellow.

You get extra coolness. You needn't be a scientist to know that the slower tobacco burns, the cooler the smoking.

You get extra-fine flavor. Excess heat ruthlessly destroys the subtle elements of flavor and aroma. Slow-burning Camels tell their own taste-tale!

So...for thrift and for a smoking thrill...light up a slow-burning Camel!

SMOKERS:
SAVE THE COST OF THE STATE CIGARETTE TAX

Smokers who live in communities where certain state cigarette taxes are in effect can save the cost of the tax—and, in some instances, more—through smoking Camels. (See right.) When you are a Camel smoker, you get this unique economy—and all the extra enjoyment of cooler, milder smoking—the fragrance and delicate taste of finer, more costly tobaccos.

By burning 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them—CAMELS give a smoking plus equal to
